Animals

Sunday, Oct. 12
1:30 to 2:30 p.m.
WC Amphitheater & Pond

By Leilani Barrera

*“Until one has loved an animal, a part of one’s soul remains unawakened.”
—Anatole France*

I don’t know about you, but I find it notable that in the timeline of the world’s creation, God first made animals before creating mankind. I like to think that God wanted to ensure that when man was placed in the garden, he would enjoy the loving and unconditional companionship of living creatures.

While elephants, bears, and lizards could not be considered the world’s first pets, it is worth noting their inherent value as part of God’s “very good” creation, as well as their significant inclusion in humanity’s call to steward, care for, and protect the natural world.

Animals are described as participants in the spiritual act of worship. Scripture details God’s devotion and care for his creation, as demonstrated by Jesus’ teaching that “not one sparrow will fall to the ground outside your Father’s care” (Matthew 10:29). The Psalms also encourage creation to praise the Lord! God created every living creature with purpose and intentionality, each breed and species integral and a reflection of his creativity and awesomeness.

White’s Chapel to Join Habitat
Build in Fort Worth

White’s Chapel is once again joining forces with Trinity Habitat for Humanity to help bring a new home to life in the Garden Springs development of southwest Fort Worth. Two build days are scheduled for Saturday, October 11 and Saturday, October 25, with work running from 7:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Volunteers are asked to arrive a little early for opening remarks, prayer, and a safety briefing.

The church is seeking at least 24 volunteers for each Saturday. Participants must be at least 16 years old, and while youth under 18 may not use power tools, they are still able to take part in the build. No prior construction experience is needed, as all tasks are

Panel Presentation

The Power of God in Prison

Wednesday, Oct. 22 | 6 to 8 p.m. | Grace Chapel

“I was in prison and you came to visit me.” — Matthew 25:36b

We have talked a lot recently about White’s Chapel’s developing Prison Ministry. This ministry is one of the most direct ways to live out Jesus’ command to serve “the least of these.” Yet for many, the idea of stepping into a prison—or even knowing how to begin—can feel overwhelming.

On Wednesday, October 22, White’s Chapel will host a special evening panel discussion on The Power of God in Prison. Representatives from nationally recognized prison ministries will share stories of how Christ’s love is transforming lives behind bars.

The evening will also include a moving testimony from a victim’s family, as well as the firsthand perspective of a returned citizen who is now bringing Christ to others through his own experiences. Together, these voices will help answer pressing questions including:

- Does prison ministry really make an impact on offenders?
- How can the church support the families of prisoners?
- What are tangible ways to get started in this work?

Following the panel, attendees will have an opportunity to ask questions and learn more about the ways White’s Chapel is already serving in local correctional facilities.

Community Storehouse is Communion Recipient

(Editor’s note the Community Storehouse was initially slated to receive communion offerings in July. Those offerings—over $53,000—instead went to victims of the July Central Texas flooding. This article is being repeated to remind readers of the needs for the Community Storehouse.)

It certainly cannot go without notice that the cost of living has increased enormously in the past year. Every sector of life has exponentially soared in price, especially in the areas of food and everyday personal items.

The White’s Chapel family has continuously been sensitive to those who are food insecure. Our congregation supports many programs that are dedicated to helping fill these needs for our community and those surrounding us.

Spiritual Formation

A Weekend
with Alexander
John Shaia

Friday, Oct. 17 | 6 to 8:30 p.m.
Saturday, Oct. 18 | 9:30 a.m. to Noon

Have you ever wished you could hear the Gospels in a way that makes them come alive—fresh, relevant, and deeply personal? This October, White’s Chapel is honored to host internationally respected author, psychologist, and spiritual teacher Alexander John Shaia for a weekend of spiritual formation that promises both wisdom and inspiration.

Dr. Shaia is best known for his groundbreaking book Heart and Mind: The Four-Gospel Journey for Radical Transformation. In it, he invites readers to see Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John not as four competing accounts, but as four stages of a single journey. Together, these Gospel paths form a map that can guide us through the challenges, struggles, joys, and service of life. His teaching resonates across denominational lines because it offers more than theology—it offers a lived pattern of transformation that speaks into the very real circumstances we all face.

When Golf
Meets Grace

By Dr. Todd Renner

*“Golf is a game in which you yell ‘fore,’ shoot six, and write down five.”
— Paul Harvey*

A couple of weeks ago, John Daly, the “colorful” two-time major champion, set a new record on the PGA Tour...but not the kind of record you brag about. On one hole, he racked up – are you ready for this? – nineteen strokes. That’s right, a nine followed by a teen. A hole so long that it felt like a pilgrimage. Somewhere between the tee box and the green, Daly left behind not just golf balls, but his dignity, his scorecard, and quite possibly his sanity, too.

God shares his personal investment in the well-being of all animals and creation with us. He entrusts us with the care and responsibility of these animals, charging us to protect and nurture them as faithful stewards of the earth.

No one knew this truth better than Saint Francis of Assisi. Born in 1182 and living well into the 13th century, the Italian friar founded the Franciscan Order within the Catholic Church and was renowned for his deep affection for nature, birds, and all living beings.

Two years after his death on October 3 of 1226, he was officially declared a saint by Pope Gregory IX. The Feast Day of Saint Francis is October 4.

Churches and organizations across the world offer pet blessings throughout the entire month. Every year, White’s Chapel joins the many international groups and churches that host a special service in honor of Saint Francis’ passion. This uniquely heartfelt ceremony, known as the “Blessing of the Animals,” symbolizes that all of God’s creatures are loved and cared for.

Pets, big or small, can be true companions. Hooved, clawed, or pawed, our pets hold special and cherished places in our hearts. This WC tradition exists to bless our furry friends, by name, to impart power, life, health, and healing on these special companions and members of the family.

Pets of all kinds are welcome and invited. It is a colorful and charismatic crowd that fills the campus on this special day. From more commonly known household pets such as dogs, cats, and birds to more exotic types of creatures like lizards, pigs, snakes, tortoises, and horses, there is a blessing ready for every creature.

Starting with a formal liturgy, the attendees will be divided into categories according to the types of animals. Once they have been properly organized, the individual and formal blessings begin. While the ceremony itself is relatively quick, the fun lasts the entire afternoon! This is a great opportunity for pet owners to connect and build friendships through a mutually significant event.

The Blessing of the Animals is a meaningful and special service that gives people an opportunity to thank God for the great gift of friendship and companionship, and to relish in the sheer joy our pets bring to our lives. If you would like to have your pet receive a special blessing, please join us for this simple prayer service honoring our animal companions.

If your pet cannot physically be present for the blessing, pet owners are welcome to present a photograph. ALL ANIMALS MUST BE ON HALTERS, LEASHES, OR IN CLOSED CAGES. ALL ANIMALS MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY THEIR RESPECTIVE OWNERS.

Church and community are welcome. No registration is required.

led by trained Habitat supervisors. Under their direction, volunteers—often working alongside the family who will one day call the house their home—will help with essential steps such as raising walls, installing windows and tornado fortifications, and putting up siding.

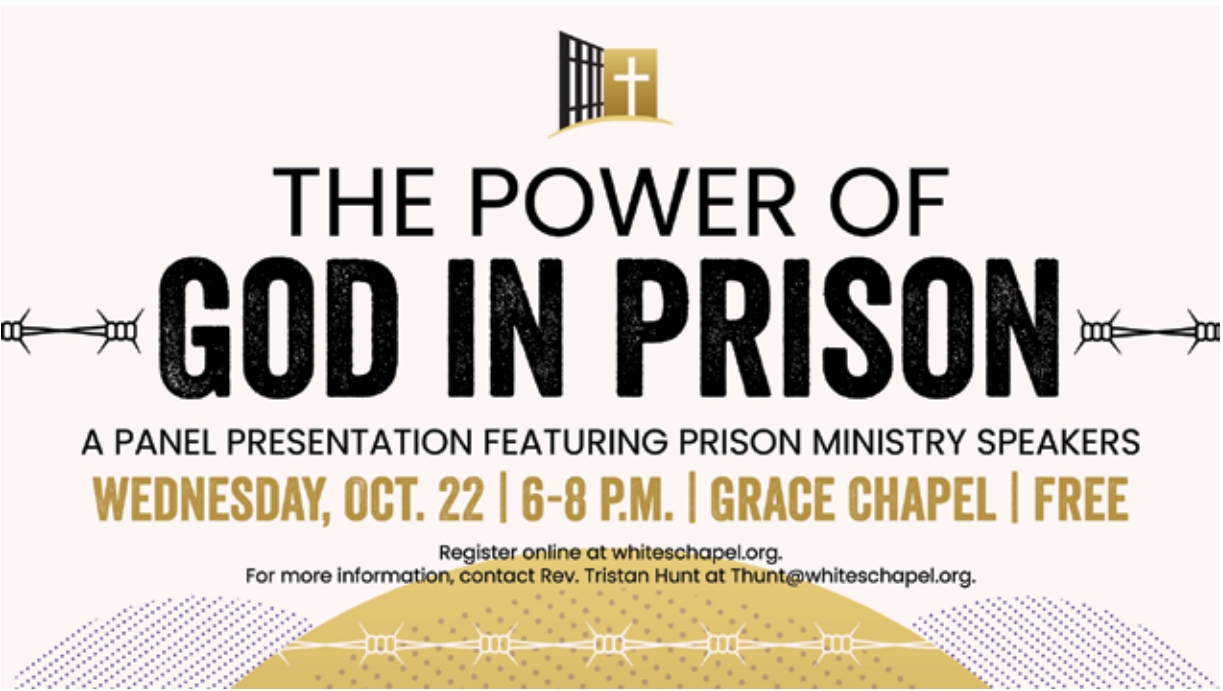

Trinity Habitat for Humanity, a Christian ministry, partners with families to build or improve affordable homes. Homeowners contribute their own labor and purchase the finished home with an affordable mortgage. With the support of churches, donors, and volunteers, Habitat helps families gain the strength and stability to build a better life.

Registration for the October build days are open on the White’s Chapel website. Early sign-ups are encouraged to assist with construction scheduling. Once registered, volunteers will receive an email with the exact address, instructions on what to bring and wear, and a liability waiver to complete. Those needing transportation may ride the church bus, which will depart from the Concourse Welcome Doors in the back parking lot at 6:30 a.m.

White’s Chapel has a long history of supporting Trinity Habitat for Humanity, and organizers hope the community will once again step forward to help turn lumber and nails into a lasting foundation for a family’s future.

Presenters on the Panel will include:

- Marvin Schick | Kairos Torch (For Youth)
Schick and his wife, Valerie, are passionate about mentoring boys at the Gainesville Texas State School through Kairos Torch. He currently serves as Recruiting Coordinator, while Valerie is the Torch Program Chairperson. Together, they bring the grace and life-changing news of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to both students and staff.
- Maggie Foster | Kairos Outside (For women impacted by prison)
After her Walk to Emmaus in 1997, Foster became involved in Kairos Prison Ministry International. She has served on Kairos Inside support teams and is now deeply involved with Kairos Outside, where she serves on the East Texas Advisory Council as Fundraising Chair. She also serves on the Central Texas Emmaus Board as Assistant Lay Director.
- Crystal Mendoza | Kairos Inside & Bridges to Life (Victim Impact testimony)
After her younger sister Lydia was murdered in front of her niece and nephew, Mendoza felt a powerful call to prison ministry. She now serves with Kairos Inside, Kairos Outside, and Bridges to Life while pursuing a degree in Criminal Justice at Tarleton State University (graduating May 2026). Through her story, she bears witness to how God can bring redemption and purpose out of tragedy.

- Bob Voss | Bridges to Life (For Men and Women)
Voss and his wife, Nancy, have served in prison ministry for over 25 years. Their work includes Kairos, Epiphany (youth), Bridges to Life, and the Prison Entrepreneurship Program. They often say they have received far more than they have given through these ministries.
- McFadden | Bill Glass – Behind the Walls (For Men and Women)
As South-Central Regional Director, McFadden oversees seven states for Bill Glass Behind the Walls. He equips and ignites local teams, partners with wardens and sheriffs, and prepares volunteers to bring the Gospel into prisons. His mission is to reach “the least of these” with Christ’s love.
- Yuri Luckette | Returned Citizen testimony
Luckette entered prison in 1993 as a member of the Grape Street Crips, struggling with drugs and crime. Twenty-six years later, he left transformed by Christ, carrying a mission to inspire and teach others that true change is possible through Jesus.

Whether you feel a nudge toward prison ministry, are curious about its impact, or simply want to hear how God is moving in unexpected places, this evening promises to be both eye-opening and inspiring.

Communion

One of the ways in which we do this is through our communion offerings, and this month is no exception. Communion offerings for the month of October will be dedicated to the Community Storehouse.

Rising food insecurity is an expanding community challenge. It is a challenge that continues to be a critical issue affecting one in five children and impacting thousands of families in our community. Since the effects of COVID-19 in 2020 the demand for food assistance and essential personal items has skyrocketed. Requests for support have grown from 25 families per week in 2020 to approximately 208 families per week in 2024 — a staggering 729% increase.

This dramatic rise underscores the urgent need for food donation programs, community food pantries, and local hunger relief efforts to ensure that children and families have access to nutritious meals and basic necessities. Our donations help join in this fight against hunger and make a lasting impact in our community.

To close the gap between opportunity and achievement, the community storehouse is one of several programs that provides what they call ‘a snack pack program’ —a consistent plan to provide nutritious, kid friendly food to children facing weekend food insecurity. These essential snack packs ensure that students have access to healthy food even when school meals are unavailable.

Each week, volunteers at the Community Storehouse Nutritional Center assemble and deliver snack packs to school partners where teachers and counselors identify students who may not have food over the weekend. These snack packs are then discreetly placed in their backpacks every Friday, ensuring they have the nutrition they need to thrive.

In 2024 the Community Storehouse distributed 85,637 snack packs to local schools, providing 175,374 individual snacks. This means hundreds of children were served weekly.

Additionally, many families facing economic hardships struggle to afford daily necessities which can impact health, confidence and academic success for children. The Community Storehouse provides toothbrushes, toothpaste, shampoo, combs, soap, deodorant and personal products for distribution as needed.

Every month, 100% of the money collected in our communion offerings is dedicated to the chosen recipient. It is hoped that you will consider this as you plan your donation.

Spiritual

Raised in a Lebanese Maronite Catholic family in Alabama, Dr. Shaia grew up surrounded by faith and tradition. His studies took him from anthropology at the University of Notre Dame to advanced degrees in counseling, religious education, and clinical psychology. Along the way he became one of the first Americans trained in Sandplay therapy, studied under Jungian analysts, and blended psychology with spiritual practice in a way that continues to touch lives worldwide. Today he divides his time between New Mexico and Spain, writing, leading retreats, and offering teaching that bridges ancient wisdom with contemporary life.

“This event takes us deeper into our knowledge and application of the Gospels,” said Rev. Victor Resendiz. “The Gospels highlight many spiritual practices that strengthen our faith walk and spiritual formation.”

At White’s Chapel, Dr. Shaia’s teaching will be both practical and inspiring. The weekend begins on Friday, October 17, from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m. with a shared dinner, followed by his first session of teaching and conversation. Participants will not only hear the history and context of the Gospels but also begin to see how these ancient stories can illuminate our own life journeys. The conversation continues Saturday morning, October 18, from 9:30 a.m. until noon, when Dr. Shaia will guide us deeper into the Four-Gospel Journey. Over a light continental breakfast, he will weave together Scripture, psychology, and lived experience to show how the Gospels can nurture joy, courage, resilience, and service in our daily walk of faith.

Those who already own Heart and Mind: The Four-Gospel Journey for Radical Transformation are encouraged to bring their copy with them. For anyone who doesn’t, books will be available for purchase at the event. We also recommend bringing a pen or journal for notes and reflections during the two-day gathering, so that participants can carry home not only what they’ve heard but also their own insights and inspirations.

“This event is for anyone who wants to deepen their experience in the Gospels and learn about the history, theology, and the application of Jesus’ teachings,” added Resendiz. “The event is open to everyone. I believe that couples can benefit from this event by learning together and sharing with one another what they received from the lectures.”

Best-selling author and speaker Rob Bell has described Shaia’s teaching

“The Gospels highlight many spiritual practices that strengthen our faith walk and spiritual formation.”

with words that capture the heart of this experience: “You won’t read the gospels the same way ever again. You won’t think about your life the same way ever again. Anthropology, psychology, the hero’s journey. The Bible: fear, struggle, hope, bravery, anticipation, euphoria, return—it’s all here in this masterful work.”

The event will take place in the Foundry, and cost for the weekend is $50 per person. Cost includes Friday’s dinner and Saturday’s continental breakfast. Space is limited, and early registration is encouraged.

Come ready to be inspired, renewed, and equipped for your own journey of faith. For more information or to register, please contact Rev. Victor Resendiz.

Musings

Now, I don’t know about you, but if I ever hit 19 on a hole (and I’ve been close), I’d quit golf, sell my clubs, and take up birdwatching. But here’s what struck me. For Daly, that meltdown wasn’t the end of his round. He didn’t throw his clubs into the pond (though I’m sure he considered it). He didn’t walk off the course. He finished. Badly, yes... but he finished.

There’s something gospel-shaped in that. Because if we’re honest, life is filled with “19-Stroke Holes.” Days where everything unravels, where we can’t get it together, and the scoreboard is embarrassing. Maybe you’ve had a marriage moment, a parenting moment, a career moment that felt like Daly’s hole – one mis-hit compounding another, until you wondered if you’d ever crawl out.

Here’s the good news: the Christian life isn’t scored like golf. Jesus doesn’t hand you a scorecard and shake his head when He sees all the snowmen (that’s golf slang for 8’s, but in Daly’s case, it would be... well, a snow village). No, grace keeps no record of wrongs. Grace celebrates that you showed up, swung again, and trusted that the round isn’t over yet.

So maybe you’re in a hole right now. Keep swinging. Keep walking. The God who loves you isn’t tallying your strokes...

He’s walking beside you to the next tee. And He’s already promised that, in the end, you win!

Keep swinging. Keep walking. The God who loves you isn’t tallying your strokes.
