Compassionate Listening Training

By Cassidy Johnson

It's something of a lost art—a skill that many in our culture today may not possess. The time of listening and communicating around a family table, without cell phones, TVs, noise, or distractions, is now rare. Chandler's Hope, an addiction and recovery ministry at White's Chapel, hopes to recapture some of these important listening tools by offering a Compassionate Listening Training on Saturday, June 24 to both ministry leaders and people within the community.

"Compassionate listening somewhat goes beyond just listening," said Rev. Victor Resendiz, director of Chandler's Hope. "It's the gift of presence, right? Sometimes, we misinterpret our listening for wanting to give advice or counsel or uninvited points of view, but compassionate listening is genuinely just being there and being present... so the characteristics of compassionate listening that we will outline during this presentation are presence, empathy, composure, and patience—and I would even add, along with patience, tolerance."

The interactive workshop will be held on Saturday, June 24, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Resendiz and Chandler's Hope volunteer Shannon Luce will facilitate the upcoming workshop by modifying some of the training tools provided by Stephen Ministries. The information will be geared toward Chandler's Hope leaders—or Chandler's Friends—as they walk alongside those facing addiction or recovery, but the training will also help anyone wanting to learn how to be a better and more empathetic listener.

Luce's knowledge in leadership development and previous experience on the American Airlines Global Engagement Team will greatly benefit attendees. She will also use many tools from her current job, facilitating mental health courses for the City of Fort Worth, to help participants practice listening skills.

"We are often not encouraged to listen; we're encouraged to absorb media, but we are not encouraged to listen—and it's a skill," she shared. "It's very difficult for us to allow someone to speak, and it's very difficult for us to then have silence. Just allowing silence in a conversation... we want to fill it with something. You

The Perfect Summer Podcast

By Cassidy Johnson

We have the perfect thing for your next road trip or long flight – a funny, family-friendly podcast that will make you actually enjoy traveling to your summer destination. "Next Question," a podcast hosted by Rev. Sam Robbins, has run for about a year but the show will soon include exciting new episodes for listeners to enjoy.

Covering a wide range of topics, the light-hearted podcast focuses on life's many questions—both big and small. Questions are submitted by church and community members and then, Robbins writes each one on a piece of paper and puts them in a bowl to draw at random during the show.

"If this is your first time listening and you're new to Next Question, here is kind of how it works—we have a bowl in front of us right now full of little slips of paper and on those slips of paper are questions," Robbins said in the most recent episode. "Many of these are submitted by you, the congregation..."

Robbins and his featured guest(s), answer the questions and discuss the topics among themselves. Guests typically do not know the questions ahead of time, which makes their answers unique, thoughtful, and extremely interesting as they answer them 'on the spot.' So far, the podcast has included pastors and White's Chapel staff members.

Questions featured in past episodes have included: What Netflix show do you see God in? Is Creed a good band? What is your favorite Bible story? Should Pluto still be considered a planet? What are some habits we can practice in building generosity? Do you know what a sword drill is? Who would you like to play you in a movie? What is your dream road trip? What is one of the funniest things or worst mistakes that has happened to you during a service? Which Biblical character do you most identify with? And many more...

White's Chapel Mobile Market is on the Move Again!

White's Chapel is partnering with GRACE Community Outreach Center every second Thursday from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. with hopes of increasing that to twice per month very soon. The White's Chapel Mobile Market, GRACE and Tarrant Area Food Bank are working together to provide groceries for families that are a part of the GRACE community.

Lisa Barham, a team leader said, "what a blessing it was to see our Mobile

Market in full swing on Thursday, May 11, for our first event. We were able to provide a shopping experience known as client's choice. Our clients were able to go through our beautiful, air-conditioned trailer and select the items they needed, as well as select vegetables and dry goods of their choice. With this being our first event to partner with GRACE, we were extremely excited to see our amazing volunteers, (many new to this mission) come together and provide a wonderful loving experience for everyone we served.

With all new ventures, you need a starting point and then measure your successes or failures and learn from each to grow a program. For our first event, we decided to start the program with food for 100 families and pray enough people came to the market. GRACE did an amazing job of getting

"We don't stop going to school when we graduate."

—Carol Burnett

By Dr. Todd Renner

Following up from Pastor John's column last issue, and as graduations take place for many of our own kids, I have been thinking about some of the advice I received from loved ones when I walked across that stage over a quarter-century ago (wow, it hurt to put it like that).

I remember all their words about following our passion. I remember all of their advice about staying strong in the faith. I remember all of their wisdom about associating with the right kind of friends—with people that would strengthen me and challenge me and hone me into becoming the person that God wanted me to be. I remember their words, and I can still feel their love... but I can't remember anyone telling me to simply be, to simply take each day as the sacred gift that it is. For all of their care, I don't recall anyone ever telling me to simply enjoy the journey; their words only pointed to some glowing destination in the future, to some ending of a story that I was still writing... and I wonder how many of us are still penning the chapters of our lives (because, if the truth be told, we never truly graduate from life's eternal school).

Regardless of our age, regardless if we will don a cap and gown this season or if we still look back with wistful memories of our own graduation decades ago, I think that each of us still sit with a blank page before us. Each new day is the opportunity to author some new detail, some new beginning that leads to a different, better conclusion. We must realize and own that maybe the choices that we've made haven't been the best ones; we must accept that the plotlines that some of us have chosen to go down haven't led to the outcomes we so hoped and so prayed that they would.

But the story—our story—isn't over yet! The best authors know that nectar of a good story is in the twist. It's when the bad guy turns. It's when love springs forth from the cruelest and most stoned heart. It's when the impossible victory somehow manages to emerge from the strangle-hold of defeat.

No, our story isn't over yet... for today is just the turning of a page.

Our congratulations and our prayers go out to the entire Graduating Class of 2023: we are so very proud of you... and we can't wait to see where God will take you!

Lisa Barham mentioned, "the critical need for food donations also increased after several food stamp benefits made available through the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program during the COVID-19 pandemic expired in March. We are seeing this at our O.H. Stowe Elementary School as well as with GRACE. Some of these families were getting $200–$600 per month. Moms and dads receiving the food we are providing are telling us, without that extra money, they can't feed their families. This program is essential and is a blessing to hundreds of people. Everyone at White's Chapel can be proud of this program, our church is making a difference and helping people that simply need to see and feel God's Love and Grace."

* The volunteer sign up is available on the church website. For more information about the Mobile Market, please contact WC Mobile Market volunteer coordinator Jim Niewald at jimniewald@yahoo.com.

the word out to their community, and we were shocked when we started the program at 5:15 p.m. and were finished by 6 p.m. because it was a huge success! So, next month we will provide food for 200 families and grow from there."

CHANDLER'S HOPE
AN ADDICTION MINISTRY

know, I'm a huge fan of HGTV, but the reality is homes don't get repaired in 30 minutes and neither do relationships, and yet our thought process is 'in five easy steps'... and that's what we've been trained to think... I think it's very, very hard in our society. I think there are so many distractions and that is what prevents us from using our skills and perfecting our skills—and it is a skill like any other skill. You simply need to use it, and you need to reinforce it, and you need to practice it."

Resendiz believes this class will offer encouragement to people supporting loved ones facing addiction, but he also knows there is no 'easy fix.' He understands that everyone is unique and their situation is specific to them. Even so, he hopes people will be able to find the balance between providing the space and support a loved one needs while also drawing healthy boundaries of self-preservation. While it may start with compassionate listening, he believes "it's also about allowing the loved one to find their own resilience, their own inner strength, and in some cases, their own desperation so they can get the help they need."

This workshop will help equip leaders and volunteers of Chandler's Hope with better listening skills to help those facing difficult circumstances. In situations of addiction, many may listen with a sense of fear or with an anticipation to respond. Both facilitators believe that providing a more empathetic space may benefit both people and preserve the relationship.

"All of us involved in Chandler's Hope, in one way, have been touched by addiction—whether that is as an individual who is an addict themselves, whether they are supporting a family member who's gone through that, a friend, etc." Luce said, speaking about Chandler's Hope leaders and volunteers. "So, we have all been touched by addiction, so we are coming at it from our own space."

The interactive workshop will be held on Saturday, June 24, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. During the four-hour training, many skills such as paying attention, validating, asking questions, and reflecting will be discussed and rehearsed. Participants will have the opportunity to practice these things in breakout sessions and take notes as the group follows a provided handout. People only need to have something to write with and a willingness to learn to attend. Lunch and pastries will be provided, so registration is needed to account for supplies. Participants can register on the church website. Registration is not limited to those facing circumstances of addiction; anyone can attend to learn better listening skills.

"Whether or not you're coming because you are dealing with addiction in your family, you're dealing with a challenging relationship in your family or friendship, or a challenging business relationship, I think this is absolutely going to support you and it's going to support you building your skillsets," Luce said.

"My hope is just for folks to be aware, first of all, that their presence is important in their loved one's life... and hopefully these skills will help them with that presence," Resendiz said. "And also, for those who are not aware of Chandler's Hope, that this training helps them understand and know what we are doing."

Chandler's Hope

Chandler's Hope is an addiction and recovery ministry at White's Chapel that offers resources for people who are struggling and in need of hope. Additional Chandler's Hope events and workshops will be offered in the fall. A book study, a workshop on parenting and communication with teenagers, and a forum on the fentanyl epidemic are currently in the works. Dates will be released in coming months. For more

Upcoming Events

Food Truck Party VBS 2023 June 12–15 | 9 a.m. to Noon

Food Truck Party VBS is based on Matthew 6:11 (NRSV): "Give us this day our daily bread." This verse reminds us that everything we have comes from God—but it also calls us to turn to God in prayer for our daily needs. Food Truck Party is a fun event where Chefs learn important lessons about God's ability to provide. Chefs are guided each day to learn how we can depend on God to take care of us. Because God loves and cares for us, we, in turn, can love and care for the rest of the world. We care for others because God first cared for us. In this way, the Church becomes the hands of God, ensuring that everyone's needs are met. Each session focuses on different ways God has met the needs of God's people and reminds us that God is still doing this today through us. Register online.

'POP' on over for the biggest bubble party of the summer, featuring the Dallas Bubble Truck! WC Kids will be hosting the third annual Bubble Bash on Saturday, Aug. 5 from 10 a.m. to noon. Plan to get wet this year by sliding down an inflatable water slide and splashing in several water features. The outdoor playground will also be open, and Kona Ice will be serving up ice-cold snow cones!

Participants are encouraged to wear swimsuits and bring a towel! Come join us for this fun morning of fun and fellowship. Erin Zajac | ezajac@whiteschapel.org

The PLAYLIST

Sermon Series Returns!

We are bringing back the popular sermon series, "Playlist," and you—our congregation members—get to vote on the songs you'd like to hear during the musical July series!

Each weekend, our pastors will use one of the winning songs in their message. This year, people can cast their votes for selected songs within four genres. Songs are classified in these different categories to represent the four weeks of the series. Country, classic rock, Motown/soul, and pop songs will be featured.

Country song options include: "I Run to You" by Lady A, "Buy Dirt" by Jordan Davis, "I'm A Survivor" by Reba McEntire, and "Always On My Mind" by Willie Nelson.

Classic rock song options include: "I Won't Back Down" by Tom Petty, "Faithfully" by Journey, "The Long and Winding Road" by The Beatles, and "Running Up That Hill" by Kate Bush.

Motown/soul song options include: "Ain't No Mountain High Enough" by Marvin Gaye & Tammi Terrell, "This Will Be (An Everlasting Love)" by Natalie Cole, "For Once In My Life" by Stevie Wonder, and "Sir Duke" by Stevie Wonder.

Pop song options include: "Stronger (What Doesn't Kill You)" by Kelly Clarkson, "Happy" by Pharrell Williams, "Viva La Vida" by Coldplay, and "Anti-Hero" by Taylor Swift.

One song from each of the categories above will be chosen, based on how everyone votes. People of all ages are encouraged to participate. Voting will end on June 4, so be sure to scan the provided QR code to record your favorites now! The link to vote is also available on our social media pages, so you can also share it with your friends.

Be sure to join this July to hear the winning songs during the "Playlist" sermon series! You won't want to miss it!

The questions, while entertaining to listen to and helpful to learn from, also present unique topics to discuss among family members or friends.

"My hope is that people get to see a different side of our pastors and staff," Robbins said. "Many of the questions we answer are deep and theological in nature, but many are fun and lighthearted. I think it's a really fun listen. One minute we might be discussing the nature of evil and the next we're debating what flavor of pie is best."

The most recent episode included WC Co-Pastors Drs. John McKellar and Todd Renner. It featured personal stories, memories, opinions on food, a little theology, and lots of laughs.

During the episode, the group read a question submitted by a 4-year-old boy named Jackson. He asked, "Why does Jesus love us?" The group praised the little one for his thoughtfulness. Another person asked "What do you think we look like in Heaven? What age are you? Do you get to pick an age?" The two said, while they are not certain of these things, they hope and believe they will recognize their loved ones.

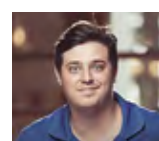

"We do our best to answer the questions, but sometimes we just contemplate," Robbins said. "Many of the questions we get are big and complex and so often we find ourselves just thinking through them together. And I think that's a big part of the heart of this thing—we don't have all the answers but we love talking through the questions."

More than 10 episodes have already been released, and more will be released periodically throughout the summer and well into the fall. The next episode will drop Friday, June 2.

To listen, people are encouraged to check the Next Question podcast page on the church website or check the podcast section on Spotify or Google Podcast. The series is labeled "Next Question" by White's Chapel. To find it, listeners should look for the green and grey graphic to be sure it is the right series, as there may be other podcasts with the same title.

If you would like to submit questions for upcoming episodes of the podcast, please email questions@whiteschapel.org. If you have questions about the Next Question podcast, contact Rev. Sam Robbins at srobbins@whiteschapel.org.

"We hope you have a great summer and tune in to one of these shows," said Robbins. "You won't be disappointed!"

COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

WC Quilters Monthly Quilt Together Thursday, June 8 | Noon to 4 p.m. Adult Education Building, Room 3204

Join WC Quilters on the second Thursday of each month for a time of quilting and fellowship. Beginners and experienced quilters are welcome! Contact Catherine Sheffield at (972) 355-1031 for more information. See ad below.

Christians Facing Cancer Support Group Tuesday, June 13 | 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Room 2129 EH

We are so pleased to welcome back Katherine Lawrence, a Stanford and Cornell-trained Nutritionist and owner of "Food Saved Me" and "Food Saved Me Institute" (nonprofit) from right here in Southlake, Texas. Katherine is a former aerospace engineer and Iraq war veteran, who reversed her stage 4 reproductive disease with nutrition. Since changing careers and immersing herself in nutrition, she has taught over 20,000 local students nutrition for disease prevention and survival. Katherine will share her powerful story, nutrition tips for improving survival odds for cancer patients and demonstrate a few delicious recipes!

Christians Facing Cancer provides encouragement for cancer patients, caregivers, family members, and friends whose lives have been impacted by a cancer diagnosis. The group meets on the second Tuesday of each month. For additional information, contact BJ Landers at landerscln@aol.com, (817) 683-6088, or supportgroups@whiteschapel.org.

Join WC volunteers to share the wonderful grace and hospitality of White's Chapel with the community! There will be a church hospitality tent set up at Southlake Town Square, where volunteers will be handing out "God is Big Enough" bracelets and red WC tote bags. There will also be an area for kids to make encouraging cards that will be sent to U.S. soldiers.

Sign up to share your time and love for others at this community event! Volunteers are encouraged to sign up online. Multiple shifts will run from 5 to 11 p.m. and family members are welcome! Contact Rev. Sterling Smith at ssmith@whiteschapel.org.

June Communion Offering

The Mix Kitchen

By Rev. Larry Duggins

The Mix Kitchen is a commercial kitchen operated by the Missional Wisdom Foundation in cooperation with White Rock United Methodist Church in Dallas. Recently, the Mix Kitchen leaders have followed a calling by the Holy Spirit to use the kitchen to support the feeding ministries for homeless and hungry people in the DFW Metroplex. The Mix Kitchen has partnered with a wonderful nonprofit homeless ministry to "repurpose" donated food from grocery stores and restaurants. Food donations are turned into delicious meals for our hungry neighbors on the street by an experienced chef. In the month of September, between leftover catering food and donations, the kitchen prepared approximately 500-600 meals. Donations support purchasing food items to supplement the food donations and help fund our chef in this work. The chef and leader of The Mix Kitchen, Ms. Rhonda Sweet, is an experienced chef, business manager and teacher. She has shown an affinity for connecting with women of color, working with them to establish new businesses. Rhonda's work blesses people who dream of the independence and satisfaction of self-employment, and their work often involves providing services to children and/or providing jobs to marginalized people. Rhonda is an experienced chef, a seasoned manager and a strong Christian. She runs a successful catering company, building on her experience as a regional manager for Boston Market. Rhonda was a contestant in Season Two of Master Chef, gaining recognition as an excellent chef on a national platform. She is an outstanding coach and teacher, and as a woman of color herself, she relates to the unique issues a woman of color encounters in starting a business. Rhonda's efforts are supported by White's Chapel members Dr. Larry Duggins and Denise Crane, who are heavily involved in the daily operation of the MWF, and by WC Co-pastor Dr. Todd Renner, who serves on the MWF Board.

The feeding ministry work of the Mix Kitchen under the leadership of a Christian woman in a church environment invites meaningful spiritual growth to all those it encounters. This combination is an example of the new evangelism, where people meet real life needs through interaction with the church and with Christians, which opens a pathway to prevenient grace. This form of evangelism has an enormous ripple effect on the lives of hungry people served and nurtured through the lived example of grace through the Body of Christ.
